

POWER RANKINGS — WEEK 1

Committee: Andrew Winderlich, Rakeeb, Milton, Jesse Lehman

1. Big Puppy — Brandon King — +320

Best roster in the league right now. Chase, Nico, Breece, Judkins, Davante, plus great bench depth. Pitts is the only guy that makes people nervous because drafting him in 2026 is basically a mental illness. BK is also one of the only normal trade partners in this league, which makes him more dangerous.

2. The Wagon — Jack Faraone — +350

Hurts, Achane, JT, DeVonta, Garrett Wilson, plus Mahomes, Andrews and BTJ on the bench. Loaded. The only issue is Jack is the Escape Artist He can't risk losing early. This year he may actually have to win instead of just making the playoffs every year and stacking participation trophies.

Newly appointment member of the report refreshers.

3. I love big TD's — Justin Minkoff — +500

WR room is GROSS. JSN, AJ Brown, Egbuka, and a nice TE in Tyler Warren. RB room is significantly less gross.... But Jaylen Warren and Javonte is a fine duo. Bench is basically handcuffs... Still a very good squad, but he needs to learn to not treat his guys like prime Barry Sanders.

4. Team Man clan — Sam Boderman — +650

Puka and Jeanty are elite and the roster is deep everywhere. Then Sam starts Baker over Purdy for reasons literally nobody understands. Rumor is a nice lady named CLAUDEIA drafted this team, which honestly tracks because everything looks smart until you get to weekly decisions and the waiver wire.

5. The Money Team — Matthew Gordon — +800

Defending champ. Glorious king CMC, Dirty Rome, and Dirty Mike Wilson make their return. Newcomers Dirty Bowers, Dirty Dakota and Dirty Dmo signed vet minimums to ring chase. Still legit, but Bijan and McBride are now helping other teams beat him, which is not nice. Decent draft, but bigger fish to fry as Alec already has the spreadsheet open of his waiver moves.

6. PocketAces — Cameron Levine — +900

Best commissioner in league history by FAR and one of the only people who sends real trade offers.... St. Brown and Henry gives him a legit duo. In season management will tell the story here, but a nice draft for killa.

7. Click Clack — Matthew Zlotnicki — +1400

Jettas, Barkley, McConkey, Loveland.. Great start. Unfortunately he took Brandon Aubrey in the NINTH ROUND and Texans D/ST in the eleventh. A kicker and defense while actual players were still available. Half of the Duo of Despair and hasn't won since 2018. Already scouting next year's draft capital in a redraft league. Rooting for him tho. His scent has also brought him down a couple spots. Watch out if he uses new cologne. Also, is he starting Texans D? Lmk.

8. Jeanty's Hammer — Spencer Friedman— +1600

Team is named after Ashton Jeanty. Does not have Ashton Jeanty. Tough start. Joey Brr, Gibbs and McBride are legit, then RB2 is Tuten (watch out for Chris Rodriguez). Not a horrible roster by any means, but the team name puts him lower than he should be.

9. The Flock — Ryan Balow — +2500

Josh Allen and James Cook are great. Great stack. After that we enter the world of "upside," where Hola Dean has lived for 13 straight years. Kelce, Watson, Dowdle, Jaguars D/ST, INTERESTING.. And of course Walter drafted it. My hatred for Walter drops him to 9 bc of that.

10. The Losers — Brandon Freedman — +4000

Named The Losers, so at least there's self-awareness. Caleb, Chase Brown, Swift, Zay, Kraft, Hampton. Not bad on paper especially the RB's ... but Zay as an WR1 gives me vibes of the Wizards starting Isaac Bonga. Bench is ugly. Hasn't won since 2016. Senior member of the Duo of Despair. White flag should be fully raised by July 4.

Newly appointment member of the report refreshers.

11. The Schwappaports — Alec and Eli — +5000

To be clear, I want these guys to win. Badly.

And ,Lamar and Bijan make you look twice, but then...

The rest of the roster reminds you this is still the Schwappaports.

Bucky, Fannin, Quentin Johnston. YUCK! They have never won this league, not sure if this is the year for it, but sure hope so. Our committee member Jesse Lehman looked at this team and laughed hysterically, but it was silent after that.

Alec is also still looking at the waiver wire extensively. He's frustrated. If he didn't mind other teams making moves, he'd be #3. Maybe.

12. Hairy Butt — Pierce Barbour — +8000

Lamb, London and McLaurin is an elite receiving corps. But, sadly, Pierce drafted THREE QUARTERBACKS in a one-QB league. Jayden Daniels, Dart, Goff. Meanwhile the RB room is hanging on by a thread. Our board member Jesse looked at the roster, said "no," and left the committee meeting. Rooting for the guy tho since he makes good moves.
